

Thank you for everything you do to support women with ovarian cancer. Together, we can and will continue saving lives.

We're heading into the next year with a real sense of urgency. We know that with your help we can make the changes that are so desperately needed in order for every woman to have the best possible chance of survival.

On behalf of everyone at Ovarian Cancer Action and our scientists, thank you. Your support is making vital breakthroughs to improve and save lives.

CONTACT US

☑ @OvarianCancerUK f ovariancanceraction ovariancanceraction

How you're helping fund life-saving breakthroughs.

Your support has allowed us to continue to invest in world-class scientific and clinical research and helped us to raise vital awareness of the disease. Together, we are moving closer and closer to finding new breakthroughs that will save lives.

Avastin and Olaparib - drugs to treat advanced ovarian cancer now accessible on the NHS in both England and Scotland. A game changer for thousands.

Our scientists

discovered more about how ovarian

cancer originates in the Fallopian tubes, a finding that may be critical in paving

the way to early diagnosis.

New clinical trial focused on developing an immunotherapy

treatment using T-cells

launched resulting in promising advances in this field.

This year

one of our scientific teams discovered a series of viruses that target and kill cancer cells, and molecules that restore the immune system. These findings are now being used to develop a new treatment to improve life expectancy.

In 2020 we launched the MPROVE UK programme. An innovative project which has been working to improve access to care for women with ovarian cancer across the UK.

Care and treatment

Research

Breakthroughs

In 2021, we became the charity partner for Gateway C - an online training platform used by the NHS to help GPs learn about diagnosing ovarian cancer.

Last year, we ollaborated with 18 hospitals to improve ovarian

Awareness

In 2022, 863 women attended our volunteer-led awareness raising sessions given in work places around

Our wonderful Walk in Her Name supporters raised a whopping £85,953 fo life-saving research during Ovarian Cancer Awareness

Over 20,000 people discovered the facts from the fiction in our hereditary cancer quiz, empowering them with knowledge on improving early diagnosis.

Month.

Over 1.9 million people learnt vital information about symptoms through our partnership with Twitter on World Ovarian Cancer

> Thanks to the amazing generosity of supporters like you we're helping even more women with Ovarian Cancer this year.